Captain Is Husband
Of Jane Froman;
He and 17 Others
Safe, 51 Are Killed

NEW YORK (P)—An airliner captained by the husband of star Jane Froman plunged into the ocean San Juan, Puerto Rico, today with a possible loss of 51 lives.

The entertainer's husband, Capt. John Burn of New York, was reported among 18 known survivors of the 69 persons who were aboard.

Pan American said there were 58 adults, six children and a crew of five.

The Civil Aeronautics Board said it had been advised there were at least 23 survivors.

The plane, a Pan American Airways DC-4 had just taken off from Puerto Rico for New York with Easter tourists.

Miss Froman waited tearfully in her New York apartment for word of her husband.

The crash occurred five miles northwest of the harbor entrance northwest of the harbor entrance at 11:02 a. m. EST. The line said it had taken off for New York.

Rescue Being Attempted

A coast guard PBV amphibian rescue plane was reported on the water over the scene of the sinking. Three other planes were hovering over the spot and coast guard boats were on their way.

The crash is the second in the lives of Miss Froman and her husband. While she was flying to the war front to entertain troops, her plane crash in Lisbon Portugal harbor. Captain Burns was a co-pilot of the plane and rescued the badly injured entertainer. That was Feb. 22, 1943. They were married in 1948.

After the Lisbon crash, Miss Froman spent three of the next five years in hospitals. She got around by wheel chair and crutches, but in recent years, has not had to use either.

When the Yankee Clipper plane crashed into the Tagus River in February, 1943, 24 lives were lost. Both Miss Froman and Co-pilot Burns were tossed 100 yards into the river, severely injured.

However, he managed to reach her, and hold her head above the water.

In Same Hospital

Afterward, they were both in the same Lisbon hospital for seven months. His back was broken in two places, but he incurred no permanent injuries.

They saw each other frequently afterward, during her long period of incapacity.

When they were married in March, 1948, in Florida, Miss Froman still wore leg braces and used crutches. She said then: "I'm going to throw this brace and these crutches by October."

Bodies of 11 Men, Killed in B-26 Crash, Recovered

GOLDEN, Colo. (P)—Bodies of 11 men killed in the crash of a B-26 bomber near here Tuesday were taken down a mountainside on horseback today.

Sheriff Carl Enlow of Jefferson County, Colorado, said 10 horses were used to wade through waist-deep snow to transport the bodies to a Denver mortuary.

Wreckage of the craft was found yesterday against the side of a 9,763-foot Golden Peak, eight miles northwest of here and about 25 miles west of Denver.

The plane, based at Randolph Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex., apparently smashed into the timbered peak going at full throttle. Bodies were sent hurtling into spruce trees as the bomber exploded.

One of the victims still was unidentified today. Randolph AFB identified 10 of the dead.

They were:
Lt. Col. Merrill E. Smith, 30, Kansas City.

Miss Monroe fractured her other hip about a year ago.

Good Friday Observance

By The Associated Press

Christians throughout the world today commemorated the most solemn event of Holy Week—Christ's death on the cross.

Christian pilgrims in the greatest numbers since the Holy Land War jammed Jerusalem. Jews and Arabs relaxed somewhat their barred wire barriers separating the old and new cities to allow the pilgrims to visit the shrines marking Christ's last days. The pilgrims retraced His tortuous journey along the cobbled Via Dolorosa to Calvary. On Sunday the Roman Catholics will celebrate Easter at the Basilica of the Holy Sepulchre, a service marked by the joyous ringing of many bells at the resurrection. Many protestants will attend an outdoor sunrise service Easter morning at St. Andrew's churchyard. Good Friday devotional services were held in all churches of Western Europe—Catholic and Protestant alike. In London a three-hour service began at noon in Westminster Abbey. In Western Germany and elsewhere business places closed and government offices shut up for the weekend.

Thousands of pilgrims from many parts of the world thronged St. Peter's Basilica in Vatican City and Rome's more than 400 other churches where the mass of the Presanctified Host was celebrated.

In this mass the Host, or Eucharistic Wafer, was consecrated on Holy Thursday and placed in a symbolic sepulchre to be consumed by the celebrants at today's services.

Later, Tenebrae services commemorating the death of Christ on the cross were celebrated in St. Peter's and other Roman churches. At this service 15 candles are snuffed out, one by one, amid deepening darkness until only the topmost remains lighted. It is then hidden behind the altar. There is then a loud noise, representing the convulsion of nature at the time of Christ's death, and the lighted candle, representing Christ, is restored to its place.

Michigan's Telephone Strike Ends

Settlement May Lead to Peace
In All Industry

DETROIT (P)—Michigan's strike of 18,000 telephone workers was settled today apparently opening the way to peace nationally in the telephone industry.

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company and the CIO Communications Workers of America jointly announced the settlement.

Full details were not revealed immediately but the basis for agreement was reported by the union as a 12.7-cents hourly wage increase.

Any settlement in Michigan, key state in negotiations, was expected to form the pattern for agreements generally.

A union spokesman said the company's last general increase offer $4 to $7 a week would stand, with adjustments.

Upwards of 260,000 telephone workers across the nation have been idled in the strike. The majority of these are non-strikers who stayed off the job in respect of strikers' picket lines. Bell System employees have been on strike since Monday in Michigan, New Jersey, Northern California and Ohio in wage disputes. At the same time the union's members have been on strike against Western Electric Company in 43 states.

The combination of the two walk-outs resulted in widespread idleness.

Michigan's striking switchboard operators and maintenance men are expected to return to work "no later than tomorrow," a union spokesman said. It was not clear at the moment whether this meant they would cross Western Electric picket lines around telephone exchanges.

The settlement was announced jointly by Walter Schaar, Michigan district director for the union, and Homer D. Swander, chairman of Michigan Bell's negotiating committee.

Schaar said the two sides had agreed on "basic issues," including the inter-city wage differentials.

In Ohio where some 12,000 Bell employees are on strike, a union spokesman said the Michigan settlement would be "a basis for an agreement in Ohio."

He said there are certain details peculiar to Ohio which will have to be worked out, however, and this might take some time. Negotiations were recessed, but were to be resumed shortly.

Michigan Bell claimed the $4-$7 weekly increase represented an annual increase of more than $7,500,000 in salaries and declared it would ask a rate increase from the State Public Service Commission "to meet this and other rising costs of doing business."

The union bitterly denied Bell's contention of the cost, estimating the increase at $3,800,000 a year. The company said that some parts of the settlement would require special Wage Stabilization Board approval to be made effective. It said it would join the CWA in asking WSB approval.

Government conciliators had said repeatedly that they believed the Michigan settlement would set the pattern for settlement of the Western Electric Company strike and the other telephone strikes.

Nationwide Oil Strike Now Up To Government

ST. LOUIS (P)—A union spokesman said today a decision on whether a nationwide strike of 125,000 oil industry workers will be ordered hinges on future action by the government.

Unions representing the workers are awaiting a decision by the Wage Stabilization Board, he said, on whether it will continue hearings ordered by President Truman in an effort to settle the dispute and avert a strike. Workers want pay hikes and other benefits.

The spokesman is O. A. Knight of Denver, president of the CIO Oil Workers International Union. Knight said he has authority to speak for all of the 23 unions involved, including AFL and Independents.

"We certainly are not going to breach what we consider a moral commitment to the government, at least for a reasonable time," Knight said.

"If they don't go ahead with the (WSB) hearings, then a strike deadline can be set."

"I understand the Wage Stabilization Board will announce a time and place for further hearings in the very near future."

Knight threatened a nationwide strike when oil industry representatives failed to show up in St. Louis yesterday for a hearing by a WSB panel seeking information for a recommendation for a settlement. The hearing was adjourned and referred to the WSB in Washington.

The winners, who are among the few that live to see the award, are Army Lt. Lloyd L. Burke, Stuttgart, Ark.; Army Cpl. Rodolfo P. Hernandez, Fowler, Calif. and Marine M. Sgt. Harold E. Wilson, Birmingham, Ala.

Jane Froman Movie Being Previewed On Day of Crash

HOLLYWOOD (P)—The movie version of the Jane Froman-Capt. John C. Burn love story premiered on the nation's screens today.

The movie "With a Song in my Heart" depicts the 1943 crash of a plane in Lisbon harbor. In that one, Pilot Burn saved the life of Miss Froman, a passenger bound for overseas USO entertaining.

Susan Hayward plays Jane Froman in the movie although all the singing is done by Miss Froman. Rory Calhoun plays the role of Burn.

Costello Free on Bail While Waiting Appeal

NEW YORK (P)—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals has allowed gambler Frank Costello to remain free in $5,000 bail until his appeal from conviction for contempt of the Senate is heard May 12.

The 61-year-old alleged rackets boss was sentenced to 18 months in jail and a $5,000 fine by Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan Tuesday.

Ryan denied continuance of bail but later that day the Circuit Court granted $5,000 bail temporarily pending a hearing yesterday, when bail was continued.

Government counsel opposed bail.

Civil War White House Announces Ike Raging In Bolivia Release Effective On June 1

That Interpretation
Of Recent Events
Given by Exiled
Leader of Country

BULLETIN
LA PAZ, Bolivia, April 11 (P)—Fighting between rebels and loyal army troops virtually ceased under a truce today. Rebel forces, who have been fighting the Bolivian government since Wednesday, now are under civilian command and control most of the capital.

Leaders of the opposing forces agreed to a peace conference. There was no official estimate of casualties but a large number of persons were reported killed in the battle that waged since dawn on Wednesday.

LA PAZ, Bolivia (P)—Loyal Army troops and rebels still battled for possession of La Paz today, the third day of a revolution which erupted at dawn Wednesday.

(This dispatch, filed at 12:57 p. m. Bolivian time, was the first from La Paz since communications were blacked out Wednesday night.)

Rebel forces led by Brig. Gen. Antonio Seleme were in control of most of the city. Only small groups of loyal troops were fighting in the capital.

It was reported that leaders of the opposing forces were trying to negotiate a settlement so as to avert further loss of life.

A large but unestimated number of persons have been killed.

Defeating Rebels

Roundabout reports indicated the military government of Gen. Hugo Ballivan was defeating the rebel forces supported by the MNR. The Bolivian Embassy got word that 200 persons have been killed in fighting still going on yesterday.

This information originated with the Chilean ambassador in La Paz and was relayed by way of Santiago.

"The fight may last long if the army persists in trying to stamp out the will of the people," Paz Estenssoro told reporters.

The revolution broke out at dawn Wednesday and the rebels announced they are in control of the government. Paz Estenssoro had planned to leave for La Paz. Later reports said the rebels were being defeated. Airlines were not booking any flights for La Paz.

Caused by Economic Misery

In Santiago, the newspaper La Nacion, which often reflects government opinion, said the revolt could be attributed to economic misery caused in part by United States refusal to pay an equitable price for tin. Bolivia ranks third in world tin production and tin is its chief source of revenue.

Because of failure to reach an agreement with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation on tin prices, Bolivia has shipped no tin to the U. S. since early last year.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, told Russians that "U. S. monopolists" were to blame for the revolt. Tass said the monopolists had failed to impose their price for tin on Bolivia.

Six Pilots Refuse to Fly, Others Ask for Suspensions

One of Those Refusing Faces Court
Martial; No Reasons Given But Eight
Bombers From Base Have Crashed In Past

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (P)—Six first lieutenants at Randolph Air Force Base here have refused to fly and others have asked voluntary suspension from flying.

The number of officers seeking voluntary suspension was not given. But Maj. Albert Hatcher, public information officer for the crew training force, said the number is being compiled.

Of the six officers who refused to go aloft, one faces court martial charges of "disorderly conduct," said Hatcher.

Hatcher said no reason was given for refusal of the six to fly. But the San Antonio Light said today "maintenance of planes at the base... has been under fire in recent months."

15 Killed Last Month

Since activation of the B-29 training program at the base in August, 1950, eight of the bombers have crashed. Fifteen airmen were killed when two collided in the air north of San Antonio last month.

Hatcher said the six officers who have refused to fly had filed applications seeking suspension from flying. All are under study except one, which was turned down.

All six cases are being studied by Col. J. B. Olmstead, judge advocate general at the base.

The pilot accused of disorderly conduct has disappeared. Hatcher said he was arrested at a downtown hotel as intoxicated Tuesday night. Police Sgt. Frank Ballard quoted the switchboard operator as saying the man had been trying to call Columnists Walter Winchell and Drew Pearson.

One Request Denied

It was this officer whose application for suspension from flying was turned down, said Hatcher.

Hatcher said various reasons could be given in the requests for suspension—including fear of flying.

All six officers who refused to fly are World War II veterans recalled to active duty.

Government May Make Own Deal On Steel

Floundering Talks
Lead to View Over
Wages and Strike

WASHINGTON (P)—Floundering negotiations for a settlement of the steel labor dispute led to reports today that the administration may go ahead and make its own wage deal with CIO President Philip Murray.

Any such move is certain to provoke another quick attack from the steel industry.

Voluntarily, the industry is under government operation, there is no steel strike, the steel companies are managing their own plants and finances under normal federal rule, and the vital defense metal is flowing.

How long this "status quo" will remain is anyone's guess.

The steel industry already has lost two attempts for fast court review of the legality of President Truman's seizure orders and attorneys are rushing new moves. But for the moment it seemed the government was firmly in command.

It was plain, however, that the Truman administration recognized it had a bear by the tail and wanted to let loose as soon as possible.

This could only be accomplished by a settlement of the basic differences between the industry and Murray, head of the steelworkers union.

Otherwise, without government intervention, Murray's industry-wide strike threat was sure to materialize.

Wage talks between the industry and Murray under supervision of Joint Defense Mobilizer John R. Steelman appeared to be getting nowhere. A prominent union official said privately: "We're still on dead center." This was taken to mean there had been no progress since industry-union talks collapsed before Tuesday night's seizure.

A great deal depended upon how each side felt about the seizure's legality. The industry, feeling the government's taking over of its plants and mills was illegal, could wait it out until a court test. The government, depending upon how solid it felt legally, could wait or deal with Murray.

Murray stuck steadfastly to the Wage Stabilization Board's suggested settlement terms of 17½ cents an hour increase in pay, plus the union shop and other concessions.

Some steel companies reportedly were willing to grant some form of union shop, or compulsory union membership arrangement, but one or two firms balked at this.

An indication of how hopeless the industry felt about the situation was seen in the moves of Benjamin Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, the largest producer. He discussed prices with Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall, talked with Steelman, then told reporters disconsolately he was going back to Pittsburgh.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower

General Writes He Believes Duty Fulfilled

Also Notified Head
Of NATO April 2nd
He Requested Leave

WASHINGTON (P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today received clearance to give up his European command June 1. This frees him to come home well in advance of the Republican national convention and campaign for the GOP presidential nomination.

The Republicans meet in Chicago July 7.

The White House announced Eisenhower's release by making public an exchange of letters between him and Secretary of Defense Louis A. Howe.

Eisenhower's letter, dated April 2, asked that Lovett "initiate appropriate action" for his release approximately June 1. Lovett's letter said that had been done.

Harry Writes to Ike

In releasing these letters, Presidential Secretary Joseph Short told reporters there also had been an exchange of letters between President Truman and Eisenhower. He said the President's letter was in long-hand and added:

"Both letters were personal and very cordial and will not be made public."

Short had no news as to Eisenhower's successor in the Defense Command. He said there would be no announcement about that today.

Eisenhower formally assumed the command in Europe on April 2, 1951—so his letter was dated exactly a year from the time he took on the task of building a defense wall against possible Communist aggression.

Purpose Accomplished

He told Lovett: "I consider that the specific purposes for which I was recalled have been largely accomplished."

Eisenhower, World War II leader and a 5-star general, was on inactive duty and president of Columbia University when Truman asked him to take the European assignment.

While June 1 is the effective date of his release, some of his supporters anticipate he may be able to return to the United States somewhat earlier—provided his successor is ready to take over sooner.

Eisenhower asked for return to "inactive" status. This will restore him to the position he had before he took on the command and will maintain his military connections.

Still Subject to Military

In that status, Eisenhower will be subject to some military regulations.

This could place limitations on campaign discussion of past matters of high policy which still remained classified as secret, even though the reasons for actual military secrecy no longer exist.

If Eisenhower had resigned his commission, there would have been no link, no regulations remaining to create road-blocks in whatever political course he might choose.

As a practical matter, however, the battling over the Republican nomination is certain to move into a new phase with Eisenhower's return.

Has Been Cut Off From U. S.

In Europe, he has been remote from the hurly-burly of the struggle.

This has had both advantages and disadvantages. On the one hand, he has not been under pressure to express himself on the developments of the day—such as the steel situation—have others in the race.

On the other hand, he has not been in close contact with the American people and with the party leaders.

A sample of the sort of things into which Eisenhower may have to mix on his return was afforded today by a demand from Rep. Powell (D-NY) that the Senate Labor Committee invite Eisenhower to give his views on the "all-important question" of Civil Rights "as soon as he becomes 'Mister' Eisenhower."

Powell, a Negro who has been active in support of anti-discrimination legislation, suggested that Eisenhower, after his return to civilian life employment on his staff "a Negro, whom I am sure will have to be a Republican," to help answer questions about civil rights.

Kefauver Believes
Ike Does Right Thing

PORTLAND, Ore. (P)Sen. Estes Kefauver said here today he thought Gen. Eisenhower "has done the right thing" in obtaining his release as supreme commander of Allied powers in Europe.

The Tennessee senator, here to campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination, said "I'm sure the people want to know and ought to be told his position on domestic issues. This will require an active campaign."

However able Eisenhower may be, he can't run for the presidency and effectively carry on leadership of NATO at the same time."

Will Unfreeze TV

WASHINGTON (P)—The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) will lift the freeze on new television station construction next Monday, governmental sources said today.

There was no official announcement from the FCC.

Teen Town is a gay place almost every night it is open for Sedalia's young people and the times are made more entertaining by the election, from time to time, of queens and kings.

Two "rulers" have been chosen thus far this year and the question now is being raised as to "who's next?"

For Valentines Day the young people elected a queen and for St. Patrick's Day it was a king who was crowned. Next will be the May Queen. Pictured here are the two monarchs already chosen:

Wants Donnelly To Open Campaign At Meeting Here

Judge E. W. Couey, of the Missouri Parole Board, arrived today from Jefferson City to spend the weekend, and announced he is endeavoring to have Phil Donnelly, former governor of Missouri and a candidate on the Democratic ticket for the nomination this year, to open his campaign in Sedalia.

Judge Couey talked with Frank Briggs, former United States Senator, and now campaign manager for Mr. Donnelly, regarding the proposed meeting.

"Should the meeting be held here," Judge Couey said, "it will bring to Sedalia between 20 and 30 thousand visitors from over Missouri. Plans are already underway to organize large delegations from each county in the state to attend the opening of the campaign if it is held in Sedalia or some other city."

Advertising Man Tells Of Son's Birth Using Large Size Billboard

ST. LOUIS (P)—An imaginative St. Louis advertising man has come up with what must be one of the largest birth announcements on record — it's 8½ by 19½ feet.

The advertiser and proud parent, 36-year-old Robert Seat, had the announcement erected yesterday on a billboard. It pictures a baby and a pair of booties and reads: "Pardon our pride, but...Michael Robert Seat just arrived to fill these shoes. Born Friday April 4. Weight 6 pounds, 6 ounces."

The names of Seat and his wife, Janet, are not included. The billboard space was donated to Seat. Ordinarily, it would cost about $250.

The Legend Of The Dogwood

At the time of the Crucifixion, the dogwood tree was as large and strong as the oak and was chosen as the timber for the cross. To be used for this purpose, the tree, and Jesus, in His pity, promised "Never again shall you grow large enough to be used for a cross." Henceforth the dogwood tree shall be slender and twisted, its blossoms in the form of a cross—two long and two short petals. At the edge of each petal there shall be nail prints; in the center of the flower a crown of thorns and this tree shall be cherished as a reminder of my cross. So it has been and the springtime flowering of the dogwood has remained a symbol of divine sacrifice and the triumph of eternal life.

Family Has Phone For Children, Too

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Hey, mom and pop! Been having trouble getting the kids away from the telephone lately?

Take a lesson from the Dickinson family of Columbus. They used to have the same trouble. They don't anymore.

Papa (Hal D.) Dickinson figured there was only one solution—give the kids their own phone. So he did, complete with private listing in the telephone directory.

The Dickinsons have five telephones on two outside lines. Three of the phones are on the number under Papa Dickinson's name. The other two instruments are for the kids, listed under papa's name in the directory as "children's telephone."

Patronage Move Stirs Senate Row

WASHINGTON (AP)—A roaring Senate argument has been fired up by President Truman's plans to shift more than 21,000 federal jobs to civil service.

Unless either the House or Senate kills the surprise move within 60 days, it becomes law under terms of the Government Reorganization Act of 1949.

The battle is expected to be decided in the Senate where since 1789 most senators have had the privilege of confirming federal officials appointed by the President by and with the consent of the Senate.

The surprise reorganization plans submitted yesterday would apply to a long list of favorite political plums, including 21,438 postmasters, 64 United States marshals, 51 collectors of customs and a large number of other customs officials.

Some Republicans charged Truman with foreseeing a Republican victory in the fall elections and moving to blanket thousands of Democratic officials under civil service protection.

A veteran Democrat, Sen. George of Georgia, promptly announced his opposition and added:

"If the Senate has any respect for its responsibilities in selecting and confirming honest and efficient officials, the move will be defeated."

Strong support for the reorganization came from three younger Democratic senators, Monroney of Oklahoma, Moody of Michigan and Humphrey of Minnesota.

They previously had introduced an even broader bill that would also put federal district attorneys under civil service.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) who often knows what the Senate will do, said:

"I'm fed up with political patronage and I have little or no faith in bureaucratic government, which is the child of civil service. So I guess I will vote with the President."

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Committee on Government Operations, which will handle the plans before a Senate vote, opposed them, saying:

"I think it's a mistake to let policy-making officials be selected by the Civil Service Commission without Senate confirmation."

The President, in his message to Congress covering the plans, said it was too great a burden on the President and the Congress to pass on all these appointments and confirmations, adding:

"Relations between the President and the Congress ought not to be complicated by the need for coming to agreement on the selection of a host of field officials in positions where policy is not made."

He said the plan would apply gradually over the next few years as terms of present officials expire, or the offices become vacant.

Twenty-three different countries successfully grow tea.

The case of Lloyd Kindel, charged with a traffic violation which was appealed from the Magistrate Court of W. W. Blain, was postponed Friday to April 22. The case was to have been tried Friday, but the absence of witnesses from Kansas City caused the continuance.

On March 25 the Western powers, in a carefully-weighed, carefully worded statement, did not turn down the idea of a unified Germany. But they rejected the Russian idea of a national German armed force, and a ban on any alliance between Germany and other Europeans.

They asked how the Soviets proposed to unify Germany and set up a government, and in turn proposed that the Russians let a United Nations commission look in to the possibility of holding free elections in Eastern Germany.

There was speculation—and real apprehension—that the Soviets would radically change their policies and (1) agree to Western suggestions for the U.N. inquiry; (2) flatly agree to free elections; (3) once under Big Four supervision, or (3) reverse their post-war policy and display a willingness to reconsider returning to German territories now held by Poland.

This would be a high price for a "neutral" Germany, outside the Western power orbit, but some feared Russia might be inclined to pay it in view of the definite progress being made by the West.

The Russian reply to this March 25 note was sent to Washington, London, Paris and Bonn, and made public yesterday. In many respects it was more nearly a dud than a bombshell.

One thing, Secretary of State Acheson had declared that if the Soviets sincerely wanted free elections and an all-German government they would agree to accept the United Nations inquiry. This was seen as a test of Soviet good faith.

Instead of accepting it the Soviets clung to their idea of four power control of everything to do with Germany.

The United States is therefore in a position to claim that the Russians did not measure up on the test of good faith.

The nearest test to a new idea in the Soviet note is the suggestion that as an alternative to a U.N. investigation, a commission of the Big Four powers could investigate the conditions for free elections.

The principle of this is, of course, not new in that it retains Big Four control and therefore Russia's veto.

Whether the Russians may be prepared at some later stage to offer real concessions is still a subject of speculation among authorities here.

Expect West Will Reject Soviet Demand

WASHINGTON (AP)—Diplomats predicted today the Western powers very probably will reject Russia's new demand for a four-power conference on unifying Germany.

Soviet insistence that any German peace treaty must give a unified Germany her own independent army, navy and air force was seen as a major obstacle to an East-West agreement.

Russia also stood by her original suggestion that the Big Four, not the United Nations, should decide whether all-German elections are feasible.

Officials here, in predicting rejection of the latest Russian moves, emphasized, however, that the final decision will be reached in talks just starting between representatives of the American, British, French and German governments.

British diplomats also took a dim view of the Russian efforts to arrange a 4-power conference on Germany. One British official in Germany commented: "There doesn't seem to be anything in this (Russian) note that could make a 4-power talk possible."

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer studied the note, but it wants full Allied agreement in meeting with the three Western Allied high commissioners. At this meeting he is expected to give them his views to be transmitted to London, Paris and Washington for use in preparing a response to Russia.

The United States favors turning down the latest Russian proposal, but it wants full Allied agreement. It particularly wants understanding and support in Germany.

A flat rejection poses a touchy problem. It would have to be phrased in such a way as to convince Western Europe that the Russian bid for German unity is merely a phony but dangerous propaganda move, and that the West also wants a unified Germany, but under a system that will safeguard her from Communism.

Top authorities here view the latest series of Russian moves, first set off by a March 10 Soviet proposal, as merely a maneuver to disrupt the Western defense buildup.

The March 10 note dramatically reversed Russia's postwar stand against a rearmored Germany. It proposed a unified Germany with her own armed forces—but without the right to join any alliance against a World War II enemy. It suggested the U. S., England, France and Russia hold a conference to work out a treaty, along these lines.

The proposal was immediately viewed in some circles as a propaganda move because unification is the overriding political issue throughout Germany and any step toward a settlement arouses enormous European interest.

On March 25 the Western powers, in a carefully-weighed, carefully worded statement, did not turn down the idea of a unified Germany. But they rejected the Russian idea of a national German armed force, and a ban on any alliance between Germany and other Europeans.

They asked how the Soviets proposed to unify Germany and set up a government, and in turn proposed that the Russians let a United Nations commission look in to the possibility of holding free elections in Eastern Germany.

There was speculation—and real apprehension—that the Soviets would radically change their policies and (1) agree to Western suggestions for the U.N. inquiry; (2) flatly agree to free elections; (3) once under Big Four supervision, or (3) reverse their post-war policy and display a willingness to reconsider returning to German territories now held by Poland.

The nearest test to a new idea in the Soviet note is the suggestion that as an alternative to a U.N. investigation, a commission of the Big Four powers could investigate the conditions for free elections.

The principle of this is, of course, not new in that it retains Big Four control and therefore Russia's veto.

Whether the Russians may be prepared at some later stage to offer real concessions is still a subject of speculation among authorities here.

Truman Milestones Dated April 12th

7 Years Ago Became President;
1 Year Ago Fired MacArthur;
Other Big Events on Anniversary

By Ed Creach
WASHINGTON (AP)—It's anniversary time around the White House.

One year ago today the announcement came in the middle of the night—Harry Truman fired Gen. MacArthur from all his Far Eastern commands.

And seven years ago tomorrow, the man from Missouri—dazed and frightened—suddenly found himself in a position to fire five-star generals. It was on April 12, 1945, that Franklin D. Roosevelt died and Harry Truman became President.

There wasn't any anniversary celebration at the White House last year.

The executive mansion—like the rest of Washington, much of the country and many of the world's capitals—was in a turmoil over the MacArthur ouster, which produced one of the great controversies of the 20th century.

Twelve months later the echoes are still rumbling and are likely to rumble longer in the election campaign ahead.

And each side contends as vociferously as ever that it was right.

Truman supporters say civilian control over the armed forces was preserved by the President's action. And that, because MacArthur's hit-the-harder program was not followed, the Korean War was prevented from spreading, with the result that a truce may now be in sight.

MacArthur backers say a bloody stalemate has been brought about by failure to follow the general's proposals. To strike at Red air bases in Manchuria, to use the Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa, to blockade the coast of Red China. Had the general's policies been carried out, his supporters say, the war might have ended by now in victory for the U. N.

Even President Truman's critics who don't know the man who felt the universe had caved in on him just seven years ago tomorrow.

The once self-effacing senator radiates a confidence that seems to some people to border on cockiness.

He's seldom tense—outwardly, at least—these days.

Particularly since his announcement that he won't seek reelection, the President has given the impression of being relaxed—even serene—to a degree that not even Franklin D. Roosevelt could approach in his latter days in office.

Does this mean that he feels his job is done—that he can afford to drift through his last 10 months in office?

Some people expect him to do that. But the President seems to have other ideas.

One of his first acts after stepping out of the field of candidates was to get rid of his attorney general, J. Howard McGrath—a step he had avoided taking before and one he could have side-stepped this time.

He followed through by ordering government seizure of the steel industry to head off a strike—a highly controversial action far removed from any let's-let-things-drift policy.

The fact appears to be that President Truman, whatever his opponents may and do say to the contrary, is convinced he has done a good job as President and is determined that nothing must happen in the final months of his administration to spoil his record.

Royce Moser Honored for 29 Years as S.S. Superintendent

By Mrs. Charles Harris
VERSAILLES—Royce Moser was honored recently at the Sunday morning worship service of the First Baptist Church for his 29 years tenure as superintendent of the church's Sunday school.

In 1923, at the death of Samuel Daniels, Mr. Moser was elected to that capacity and he has served since.

Robert Stockton, chairman of the board of deacons, was in charge of the program honoring Mr. Moser.

During the service, Mrs. Louis Payton of Sedalia, daughter of the late Samuel Daniels, gave a reading, followed by a talk in which she paid high tribute to Mr. Moser for his long period of service in behalf of the church.

Lee T. Sims gave an historical sketch of the Sunday school and at the close of his talk, presented Mr. Moser with a Bible, a gift from the Sunday school.

Mr. Moser responded with a short talk in which he told of the men, other than pastors of the church, who had contributed much to his own life as a Christian.

Among those mentioned by Mr. Moser were the late Samuel Daniels, A. G. Baker and Paul Spurlock.

Mr. Moser stated that Mr. Baker was his staunch friend and helper during his early years as superintendent of the Sunday school. He said that Mr. Daniels was the only superintendent of the Sunday school whom he remembered from boyhood and that the splendid example set by this good man had a great influence on his Christian life and on the lives of all those who were privileged to know him.

Mr. Moser has served as superintendent under the following pastors: Rev. F. C. Richards, Rev. H. S. Thornhill, Rev. B. F. Kennedy, Rev. L. G. Christian, Rev. R. H. Nolte, Rev. Willard Bright and Dr. Alexander Best.

An original poem, "My Task," was read by J. W. Farris of Booneville, a long time friend and associate of Mr. Moser in his work in the church.

A solo, "Evening Prayer," was sung by Mrs. Robert Stockton and another solo, "My Task," was sung by Mrs. Ray T. Hoberoch, a cousin of Mr. Moser, from Booneville.

Mr. Moser was converted June 28, 1914, when the state evangelist, Rev. H. A. Smoot of Fredericktown was conducting a meeting at the church. Rev. H. S. Thornhill was then pastor. He was baptized on July 13, 1914. Mr. Moser has been a deacon in the church since 1916. He was financial secretary from 1915 to 1918, treasurer 1918-1932, and president of the BYPU 1917-1919. He was chairman of the building committee when the Sunday school annex was built in 1929 and served as chairman of the building committee for the new church structure which was completed last year.

The family history dates back a great many years to Mr. Moser's great grandfather, James Sims, one of the few soldiers of the War of 1812 buried in Morgan county and to his great grandfather, William Sims, who was the first person to be baptized into the membership of Freedom Baptist church, which was organized in 1844. Mr. Sims was active in

Once, when he had gazed upon the Dead Sea at sunset, Sakran had experienced the inner peace and warmth he now felt before Jesus. Was it the man's patient, expressive eyes, bright against the darkening sky?

Or was it the soft voice that seven times made itself heard above the taunts of hecklers and wails of women? To the women, Jesus had said, "Daughters of Jerusalem, weep not for Me, but weep for yourselves, and for your children." And to his tormentors, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

Churches Anticipate Largest Crowds of Season— Easter Sunday Hails Risen, Living Christ

The Easter story—telling of the resurrection of the Risen Lord—will be told in many ways Sunday at the services of churches in Sedalia and this area. Sunday school lessons will cover the theme, messages of pastors will center on the Son whom God gave to the world, and the great hallelujahs of Christian people will also be voiced in music.

Churches which have had vacant pews for many services in past months will probably find their seating capacities taxed to near the limit as the largest crowds of the entire year will join the Easter parade.

Sedalia, a city of churches, probably will have a larger percentage of its population at worship services on this day than ever before—perhaps as large as 50 percent.

More than 40 churches, representing over 25 denominations, will open their doors to all who will attend. There will be a place for all.

The Resurrection:
Doubt and Belief
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The Christian world owes a great debt to Thomas, as it does to all honest doubters.

Doubt, it should ever be remembered, is not unbelief. It implies the will to believe; but it seeks evidence, conviction.

It is through doubt that error is overthrown and fact and truth established. It operates in every sphere of life to bring about improvement and progress.

The scientist doubts the established explanation of certain things and he evolves a theory more in accordance with the facts. The mechanic doubts the effectiveness of a machine or engine, and he produces a better one. But his aim, his purpose is positive.

Perhaps we do not recognize how much this same process has operated in religion; though one can see it very well if he takes an intelligent view of the development of truth in the Bible.

Is an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, the real and ultimate law of right in human relationships? Gradually a sense of mercy prevails; cities of refuge are established; but ultimately comes the Christ's law of love, even to one's enemies.

But what has this to do with the Resurrection of Jesus? Just this: that I believe deep in the minds of many people with the will to believe there are unexpressed doubts regarding this supreme miracle.

The fact that doubt is unexpressed, does not make it less real. It is one thing to believe with conventional assent, but quite another thing to believe with intense conviction in a living Christ, as Paul, for instance, believed.

And little, as I see it, is done to transform doubt, or conventional belief, into that strong conviction. It is assumed that we ought to believe.

What is the proof that Jesus really rose from the dead? That the Bible says so is proof to some, but to others there is still the question: Are the records true?

When I was a theological student our textbook in "Apologetics" was constructed around an elaborate argument to prove that the

Dr. Harris Speaks at Easter Sunrise Service Here Sunday

Dr. Luther R. Harris

Dr. Luther R. Harris of Warrensburg will be the speaker at the union Easter sunrise service to be held at 6 a. m. Sunday at the Drive-In Theatre. It is being sponsored by the Sedalia Ministerial Alliance.

Dr. Harris' topic will be "What a You for Easter."

The United Negro Choir, composed of members of the Negro churches of the city, will sing for the service.

Following the service the management of the theatre will serve coffee and doughnuts to those attending.

Resurrection of Jesus was "the best attested fact in history."

The elaborates argument left me cold. To me the supreme evidence of the Resurrection, and of the truth of the Gospel records, is in what happened to those who give us the testimony.

What, other than the proof to them, and their intense conviction, could have changed the lives of ambitious self-seekers, and sent them forth as men of spiritual power with a new understanding of the world-wide Gospel that Jesus had committed to them?

That to me is the miracle, and the proof of that greater miracle of the Life and Voice that speak from beyond the Cross and the unsealed tomb.

Talbot Comes Up With How They'll Finish

NEW YORK (AP)—Days of soul searching and a certain amount of prejudice have gone into the following prediction on how they will finish in the National League race. The process is much harder than plain experting.

(1) New York; (2) Brooklyn; (3) Philadelphia; (4) St. Louis; (5) Boston; (6) Cincinnati; (7) Chicago; (8) Pittsburgh.

Only two days ago we had given up on the Giants, just as they had given up on themselves after Monte Irvin broke his ankle. But then they made the deal for Bob Elliott, who should unload about 25 home runs into the short left field stands at the Polo Grounds, and now we feel they might just make it.

Carl Hubbell said down in Phoenix: "Give me the pitching and a tight defense and you can have the hitting. I will win pennants." That, coming from the old master, casts the deciding vote.

The Giants still have much the finest pitching staff in their league and they will have a crack inner defense once little Davey Williams, the baby of the club, settles down to his new responsibilities. Their outer defense will win no prizes after Willie Mays goes into the service next month, but it looks like you can't have everything.

Word from the Dodgers is that they no longer fear the Giants since Irvin's injury and Willie's call to the colors. The feeling here is that Charlie Dressen's team suffered as great a loss in the drafting of large Don Newcombe, and that it will discover same within a short time. Besides, several key Brooklynians, including Reese, Robinson and Furillo, are over that 30 mark now and will begin to feel the heat of August.

Philadelphia is the danger. Curt Simmons, a potentially great pitcher, rejoins the team shortly, and Connie Ryan has pulled the infield together. It is a good looking outfit, but several of its stars still are burning because they were not permitted to take their wives to training camp. Little things which do not show in the record books often decide pennants.

Some are picking the Cardinals to be right up there at the finish. This seems to be at least partly out of admiration for their new manager, Eddie Stanky. Eddie will have them scurrying, all right, but he never could pitch a lick, and you've got to have pitching.

Boston, though loaded with rookies, should have enough pitching to top a somewhat musclebound second division.

Cincinnati, slow afoot and with little hitting, wins the sixth slot more or less by default, and then comes, probably the trickiest bit of selecting yet. Both the Cubs and the Pirates are pretty bad. We are inclined to take a flyer on the Cubs because they at least stood still and only added a year to their average age of last spring. The Pirates are operating with bottle babies, strictly, and it's going to be a long summer for Billy Meyer, their governor.

New Southpaw Glove For Truman When He Tosses Out First Ball

CHICAGO (AP)—President Truman will have a new southpaw glove to wear when he tosses out the first ball in the Boston Red Sox-Washington Senators season baseball opener Tuesday.

A personal friend of Mr. Truman, Fred J. Bowman, president of a sporting goods company, sent the special glove to the president in a mahogany chest with a sterling silver name plate.

Bowman served as an instrument sergeant during World War I under Mr. Truman, at that time a captain in the 37th Division.

High School Student Bowls Perfect Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A 17-year-old high school student bowled a perfect 300 game here last night—tabbed by a local representative of the American Bowling Congress as the third ever rolled by a junior bowler in the United States.

Don Broll, senior at Polytechnic High School, hit his perfect game while bowling in a senior league game at the Lincoln Bowl here.

Don is rolling in his first year of organized competition. But he remained cool for the entire game, connecting in the one-three, or New York, pocket for every shot.

Only last week, Bernie Dahlin, 16-year-old junior at Tech High in Oakland, rolled the second recorded perfect game by a junior in bowling history.

Leo Loses Sympathizers When He Signs Up Dick Wakefield

By ED CORRIGAN

Seven National League managers were thinking that, well, maybe they could spare a little sympathy for Leo Durocher, the harassed manager of the champion New York Giants. He had lost Monte Irvin and Willie Mays, two-thirds of his regular outfield, and what manager can afford that sort of a blow?

But thinking it all over today, they went back to feeling sorry for themselves—all except Brooklyn's Chuck Dressen, who still thinks the Dodgers will win the pot.

Not only does Durocher have Bob Elliott to take Irvin's spot, but he has decided to give Dick Wakefield, who has played in just about all four corners of the country, a tryout. This will be the last one for the former University of Michigan bonus baby. He was turned down by several other major league teams.

The way Durocher has been waving his magic wand, it wouldn't be a surprise to see Wakefield come through. Although the Lip is counting on his newest acquisition for pinch-hitting chores at the moment, Dick could fill Mays' shoes if he looks good. He's been pounding the ball with authority and has banged out three hits in his four trips to the plate, including two in yesterday's 4-0 triumph over the Cleveland Indians.

The Giants had been taking regular pastings from the Cubs in their cross-country tour, and the New York win was only the third in 14 games between the two teams, hardly a record to bring joy to the front office of the defending champions.

But it was a noteworthy one at that for the Giants, Larry Jansen and Max Lanier, a couple of Durocher's top elbowmen, demonstrated midseason form in white-washing the hard-hitting Indians. Jansen went the first six innings and turned back the first 10 Indians to face him. Lanier finished up.

He simply doesn't need the requirements for a dependency deferment because of dependents. Mays' home is in Birmingham.

Mays, who will be 21 May 6, says he is the chief support of four of his nine brothers and sisters, an aunt who reared him, her daughter and two of the daughter's children. His stepfather is unemployed.

"He simply doesn't need the requirements for a dependency deferment because of dependents. Mays' home is in Birmingham."

Colonel Johnson said after talking with the Negro star here yesterday.

To be excused under the dependency requirements, Col. Johnson said, a man must:

1. Be married with one child.
2. Be present in the home to look after the everyday needs of those claimed as dependents.

Mays, who was voted the National League rookie of the year in 1951, failed to pass an aptitude test at his first pre-induction examination. He was re-examined and classified I-A.

When told of Colonel Johnson's decision, Mays commented that he was "ready to go in" for his 2-year hitch.

He said he will play ball until induction.

"That's my living," he added.

Greensboro Open, Last On Winter Golf Loop, Opens With Sneed & Co.

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—The $10,000 Greater Greensboro Open, final event of the winter golf tour, got under way today with the usual alignment—Sam Sneed against the field.

Masters Champion Sneed won the inaugural Greensboro tournament 14 years ago and has added three more in the intervening years.

Thus, it's quite natural that the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., coin collector finds himself as the man to beat here.

One 18-hole round will be played daily through Monday over the 6,630-yard Starmount Forest Country Club course, a par 71 layout.

The field listed in addition to Sneed, six other players who finished in the top 10 in the recent Masters.

Carl Barbour Making Trip With MU Tigers

Carl Barbour, Sedalia, a catcher on the Tigers baseball club of the University of Missouri was among the players leaving Columbia Thursday for a four game invasion in the southland. Two games were scheduled against Texas Christian University at Fort Worth and then the club moves to Stillwater, Okla., for games Monday and Tuesday before returning home on Wednesday.

Eighteen players are on the trip including six pitchers, two catchers, five infielders and five outfielders.

Major Bidders For Titles All Have Key Man

NEW YORK (AP)—Each of the six top ranking contenders for the major league pennants has at least one key player who can settle the flag races.

Last year the dopesters predicted that Bobby Thomson and Monte Irvin would have to have big years for the New York Giants to win the flag. Both athletes had great years and the Giants did go on to win.

Heading this year's key men are Thomson and Bob Elliott of the Giants, Clem Labine of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Bob Lemon and Luke Easter of the Cleveland Indians, Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees, Curt Simmons of the Philadelphia Phillies and Eddie Stanky of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Thomson, who last year struck perhaps the most significant home run in baseball history, carries the heaviest load. Bob must assume the lead role now that Monte Irvin is sidelined with a broken ankle. That role proved too much of a burden for Thomson in 1949 and 1950 when the Giants unloaded their big guns—Johnny Mize and Walker Cooper.

Elliott, acquired from the Boston Braves earlier this week, must fill Irvin's shoes until Monte returns to action. The 26-year-old slugger is counted on to drive in the runs and hit the long ball that made Irvin the most valuable Giant in 1951.

Lemon, who had a so-so 17-14 record last year after three straight 20-game winning seasons, must have a big year for Cleveland. He is expected to take up the slack should Bob Feller, Early Wynn or Mike Garcia fail to repeat their 20-game seasons of '51.

Berra, voted the American League's most valuable player last year, takes Joe DiMaggio's place as the "big guy" of the Yankees. That means he probably will also take over DiMaggio's cleanup spot in the lineup.

Simmons, back from the Army, is expected to team up with Robin Roberts as the top pitching pair in the National League. Philadelphia manager Eddie Sawyer is banking all his pennant hopes on the young southpaw who sparked the Phils to their first flag in 35 years with 17 victories in 1950.

Stanky, back from the Army, is expected to team up with Robin Roberts as the top pitching pair in the National League. Philadelphia manager Eddie Sawyer is banking all his pennant hopes on the young southpaw who sparked the Phils to their first flag in 35 years with 17 victories in 1950.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Dan Bolich Pleaded Poverty To Congressional Investigators

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON — Dan Bolich, the No. 2 tax collector who bought $31 shirts and developed a special taste for the $3.50 monogrammed handkerchiefs, pleaded poverty when he testified secretly before congressional investigators.

Later, when Bolich was called to a public session of the King tax-fraud subcommittee, he refused to answer on the ground of self-incrimination. But before he knew that committee-probers had the goods on him, he testified freely in private. This column has now obtained a copy of the secret cross examination.

Two and a half years ago, this columnist, attempting to expose scandals in internal revenue, pointed to Bolich (Dec. 17, 1949) as an acquaintance of gambler Frankie Costello and told how Bolich had killed prosecution of the biggest tax-fraud case against Los Angeles gamblers — the Guaranty Finance Co. Another column told how Bolich mysteriously intervened to prevent prosecution in a $6,000,000 tax case against Mid-Continent Petroleum.

This was the deputy commissioner of internal revenue, later revealed to have spent in five years $63,000 more than his government salary.

Mysterious Financial Friend

Grilled secretly under oath, however, he talked freely but mentioned no monogrammed shirts or handkerchiefs.

"I am really behind the eight ball financially," he pleaded. "There is no doubt but that living in Washington I overextended myself financially, and the net result of it is that I am quite indebted to a number of persons."

Bolich also explained his friendship with the mysterious Carl Routzahn, 73-year-old Mansfield, Ohio, merchant, who paid Bolich $400 a month—totaling over $30,000.

"He (Routzahn) was a very old and dear friend of the family," Bolich said. "He was a particular benefactor."

The big tax collector told the investigators, "Mr. and Mrs. Routzahn had no children. And after her death, Mr. Routzahn made an arrangement with Mrs. Bolich and I that he would have a home with us for life and could have use of all of the facilities that are ours."

The commitment was made, not in writing, but morally binding and forever will be, that Mr. Routzahn will have a home with us, which he does have."

But, in public session, he refused to talk about his elderly friend and financial angel.

"Have you any other indebtedness?" demanded agent George Lemay, after Bolich said he owed Routzahn $12,000 to $15,000.

"Only to Mr. Routzahn," replied Bolich.

But a few minutes later, he claimed: "As it is, I am very substantially in debt."

"I would like to say right at this moment," blurted Bolich, "that Mrs. Bolich and I have never entertained, and we have never gone any place. We have never been to Florida. We have never been to California. We have never been on an ocean voyage. I think we have been to Atlantic City maybe three times in 20 years, and our whole life has been devoted to just one thing, raising this family and educating them and trying to keep our head above water."

Won $7,500 on Trueman

Bolich's income tax returns while he worked for the internal revenue listed only his government salary, plus $750 in 1945, $350 in 1946, $7,850 in 1948, and $600 in 1949. He explained he outside income during 1945 as the petty earnings of his children and a $50 election-bet pool that he won.

In 1946, he claimed his only outside income came from his children's miscellaneous earnings. In 1948, he bet $750 on President Truman's election at 10-to-1 odds and collected $7,500, he explained. His 1949 outside income included his children's earnings and a $300 television set won by his youngest son, Joseph, in a church raffle.

The investigators later pieced together enough old bills and receipts to show that Bolich spent at least $63,000 more than he reported on his income-tax returns during the same five years. Yet Bolich was then No. 2 man in charge of enforcing the tax laws.

The investigators also inquired about the notorious $250,000 Patullo Modes case. Bolich refused to comment on the case in public session, but admitted to investigators that he had ruled against criminal prosecution.

"My best recollection of that particular case is my connection with it as assistant commissioner," recalled Bolich. "That has to do with the attorneys for the taxpayer, Mr. Saver and Mr. Quinn, coming into my office in Washington and presenting the case from their point of view and from what I still think may be the facts as a result of which I advised them to offer to cooperate that."

And that I would suggest to the New York office that it be given nonprosecution consideration. And that I did."

Reversed Prosecutors

"Before you gave Mr. Saver and Mr. Quinn the assurance about nonprosecution, did you check the case with the people in New York?"

"I checked with Mr. Baradel, and he said that he could rule that technically it was not a voluntary disclosure," admitted the ex-assistant commissioner. In other words, Bolich overruled the New York office, which had claimed there had been no voluntary disclosure in the Patullo Modes case, hence criminal prosecution should have been pressed.

"Is there any other case than Patullo Modes in which you have made a ruling of no prosecution?" asked another investigator, Stanley Surrey.

"The answer is yes, that on at least two other occasions, I have interceded on behalf of counsel with the field officers to see whether or not it couldn't be arranged to make the disclosure and to offer the complete cooperation of the taxpayer, with the understanding that it would be given nonprosecution consideration," Bolich testified.

He described one case as the Goering Products case, didn't identify the other, and wasn't pressed for details by the investigators.

Chief Counsel Adrian De Wind finally asked him: "Would you please state the circumstances surrounding your resignation as assistant commissioner?"

"I communicated with (then) Commissioner Schoeneman and told him I was not going to be able to go the limit in what was turning out to be pretty fast baseball, due to my health, and I would appreciate it if he would select somebody else for the post and give me a quieter assignment," explained Bolich.

"That is the whole story," demanded De Wind.

"That is the whole story," declared Bolich.

The investigators, however, later found it was only a small fraction of the story.

tion consideration," Bolich testified.

He described one case as the Goering Products case, didn't identify the other, and wasn't pressed for details by the investigators.

Chief Counsel Adrian De Wind finally asked him: "Would you please state the circumstances surrounding your resignation as assistant commissioner?"

"I communicated with (then) Commissioner Schoeneman and told him I was not going to be able to go the limit in what was turning out to be pretty fast baseball, due to my health, and I would appreciate it if he would select somebody else for the post and give me a quieter assignment," explained Bolich.

"That is the whole story," demanded De Wind.

"That is the whole story," declared Bolich.

The investigators, however, later found it was only a small fraction of the story.

THE STORY: Private Detective George Kendall, retained by the wealthy Albert P. Antworth to prevent elopement of his daughter with an ex-wrestler called Chief Big Bear, disguises himself in the small city of Seneca Springs. George had planned to buy Big Bear off, but when George enters the gymnasium he discovers to his dismay that he is for women and George barely escapes capture as a trespasser.

IX

VERNA DENTON stopped smiling and looked sternly at George Kendall, that boss "hooking mustache and those eyeglasses," she said, shaking her head. "The police are probably searching for you as a Peeping Tom this very minute."

George removed his disguise. "Now you're my kindly young employer again," Verna said. "Maybe the disguise isn't perfect," George said. "This suit could be recognized and if we go back to Seneca Springs I might get picked up."

"No confidence," said Verna. "But let's worry about that when it happens."

She turned the car around and started back to town. "I don't see any cops around," Kendall said as they reached the Seneca Springs city limits. "Maybe they didn't even report the incident at the gym."

"Maybe," Verna said, "but stop worrying about it." She pulled the rented car into the curb in front of a drugstore. "We can go in here and check the phone book."

"Good idea," he said, but inside the drugstore, as he started to leaf through the phone book, he realized it wasn't such a good idea after all. Chief Big Bear. How did you look up a name like that? He looked under "Bear," but found nothing. He examined the listings for Indian and that also proved fruitless. In exasperation, he turned to Verna. "Here, brain-storm. You look it up."

"Detective, huh?" She turned to

"Better call the law, or somebody," he said. "But don't worry. Nothing is gonna happen. I got a hunch that from here on, it's gonna be easy sledding."

He had no difficulty in finding out that Chief Big Bear lived in suite 3. The name "Chief Big Bear" was typed on a tab along side the doorbell for that suite and under it was another name, "Max Arno." He wondered briefly if this meant Chief Big Bear or his bodyguard. Well, he thought, gangsters or not, here I come.

He pressed the button next to the tab, but received no reply. The buzzer sounded opening the door. This was strict private eye technique, George told himself proudly. George entered and went up the stairs to suite 3, which was on the second floor to the left. But, before he could knock the door of suite 4 opened.

The girl in the doorway was about 22, short, with brown eyes and a funny little upturned mouth that he found both provocative and mischievous. She wore a black satin cocktail dress, cut away at the top, revealing the soft, delicate lines of her shoulders.

"Did you ring?" she asked. "Uh—er—I'm calling on Chief Big Bear, but I guess I punched the wrong bell," said George.

"He's not home," said the girl. George tried to think of an answer. He couldn't think of one. "Cat got your tongue?"

GEORGE was behaving very unlike a detective of any sort. "Where is he?" he asked. "I mean Bear Big Chief—I mean Chief Big Bear." She was stammering, losing it.

The young woman was laughing at him, but he couldn't appreciate the joke. She opened the door a little wider. "He's at work. Excuse my chuckles, but haven't you ever talked to a girl before?" She smiled now.

"Of course, I have," he said with a new-found firmness in his voice, "but I didn't expect to see a girl, that's all."

"I wish I could make all men speechless," she said mischievously.

She could without trying, he thought.

But this young woman was gumming up the case. George couldn't stand here sputtering all day. Verna was waiting downstairs and she would grow worried if George didn't put in an appearance in 30 minutes. The girl was speaking.

"Well let's see, you wanted to know where Max was, didn't you?" she asked.

"Who's Max?"

"Well, the Chief, of course, or didn't you know?"

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The Women's Relief Corps of George R. Smith Post 22 presented a U. S. flag to the hospital for Negro residents of the city. The presentation was made by Mrs. Ethel Jones, patriotic instructor, and Mrs. Anna Jacobs.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Melton and daughter, former Sedalians, were spending a few days here with relatives before going to Muscle Shoals, Ala., with the intention of locating.

A considerable number of residents of Lake Creek township and vicinity met at Ringen School and formed an anti-chicken thief association. R. D. Montgomery was elected president, Ferdinand Klein, secretary and John Sudath, treasurer.

Decrease In Dairy Cows

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—In spite of a decrease of 12 per cent in the number of U. S. dairy cows in the last four years, the supply of dairy products has remained relatively constant because of increased production per cow, the North Carolina State College Extension Service reports.

Reduction in cow numbers has occurred mostly in the Midwest. States along the east and west coasts have increased the size of their dairy herds, the extension service said.

Radars Set on Car
Tells Other's Speed

HELENA, Mont., (AP)—Louis Housley of Salt Lake City drives a truck equipped with a radar set that can check how fast an approaching car is traveling.

An insurance company sends the truck out so drivers for trucklines the firm insures will stay under speed limits.

Yesterday Housley stopped and got his radar set going when he saw a truck coming.

There was a crash. The highway patrol said Housley hadn't pulled far enough off the road and another car rammed him from behind.

Housley paid a $10 fine for improper parking. The truck he was after got away.

Missouri Hits Top In Pierre

'Big Muddy' Crests After It Inundates One-Fifth Of Town; Nebraska, Iowa Next

PIERRE, S. D., April 10—(AP)—The mighty Missouri—now a swirling muddy sea—surged over one fifth of this capital city tonight as U. S. Army engineers said the flooding river may have reached its greatest height.

Some 1,600 had left sodden homes in the worst flood here in recent history.

Downstream, the "Big Muddy" forced itself through dikes and swept over low farm land near south Sioux City, Neb. The Big Sioux City, Iowa stock yards were expected to be flooded. Hundreds of farm families were forced out.

A 1:30 p.m. (CST) reading at Pierre showed the river was apparently holding at slightly more than 25 feet—some ten feet over the flood point.

Sandbag Crew Triumphs
Led by Mayor John Griffin, sandbag crews were apparently winning a two-day struggle to keep the silt-filled floodwater from swamping the city's two-million dollar power plant.

Normally between two and three blocks wide at the twin cities of Pierre and Ft. Pierre, the Missouri has grown to about a mile in width—swelled by the winter's fast-melting snow and ice.

The main Pierre business district had "closed shop." Some 120 blocks of this city of 5,700 were under water. All of Ft. Pierre, population 700, was inundated.

The fourth and last Pierre well was flooded early today, but a several days' supply of drinking water remained in reservoirs. The food supply appeared adequate for many days.

A Coast Guard helicopter snatched a farm wife and her two children from a small area of dry land near Pierre. Lt. Comdr. F. C. Brown, Traverse City, Mich., took the distress call from Mrs. Ruth Masterson, ten miles upstream. He asked her to mark her marooned farm with a white bedsheet. Taking off from a Pierre High School football field, Masterson soon spotted the patch of white and took Mrs. Masterson and her children, John, 4 and Janice, 5, to safety.

Later, helicopter crewmen chopped a hole in the roof of a flooded house and removed a ranch hand with a broken leg. Paul Morgner, who was stranded 45 miles northwest of Ft. Pierre, was lifted out of the house in a sling as the helicopter hovered overhead.

Private Plane Helps

William Truman, owner of the ranch, had evacuated his own family by private plane. While flying reconnaissance, he spotted Mr. and Mrs. Britt Taveau, who had been stranded three days in a car, with-out food or drinking water. On another flight he found Mr. and Mrs. Fred McChrister and baby, stranded on a hill. All were rescued.

The Red Cross set up emergency eating and housing facilities in abandoned army barracks at the Pierre airport. Between 50 and 100 small boats and several amphibious vehicles aided in the evacuation.

Three of the five South Dakota highway bridges across the Missouri were unreachable because of floodwater tonight. They are those at Lake Andes, U. S. Highway 18; Pierre, U. S. 14, and Chamberlin, U. S. 16. Whitlock Crossing, U. S. 212, and the Morbridge Bridge, U. S. 12, were open.

Near South Sioux City, Neb., about 250 air miles southeast of Pierre, low farm land today was the first surge of Missouri floodwater, freed by dike breaks. Another dike was expected to go as the river crest approached.

11 Found Dead In B-25 Wreck

GOLDEN, Colo., April 10—(AP)—A B-25 bomber, roaring westward through stormy skies, smashed into a rocky, timbered peak, carrying 11 persons aboard to instantaneous, shattering death.

The tragic story was unfolded today two days from a plane rescue party reported all 11 bodies had been found.

The plane was based at Randolph Air Force Base, near San Antonio, Texas, and was on a flight from Fairfax Field, Kansas City, to Lowry Air Force Base at Denver Tuesday.

It crashed against the side of a 9,763-foot Eldorado peak, eight miles northwest of this foothills community and about 25 miles west of Denver.

The bomber radioed Lowry Tuesday morning that it was at 9,000 feet 45 miles east of Denver and was going on instruments. Five minutes later came another radio message, giving the plane's position 10 miles northeast of here. That was the final message.

Still missing is a light plane piloted by Capt. Sidney L. Harrison, 40, of Arlington, Va., which disappeared a week ago on a flight from Wichita, Kan., to Denver.

Harrison was not far east of the front range of the Rockies when he vanished.

Randolph listed Lt. Col. Merrill E. Smith, 30, Kansas City, Mo., among the ten victims.

Part Of 200 Hurt In Parachute Drop

Injured paratroopers wait to be evacuated by helicopter after being hurt when they dropped during a high wind near San Saba, Tex., as part of the big-scale "Operation Longhorn" maneuvers. More than 200 were injured in the leap of 3,120 men of the 508th Regimental Combat Team. (AP Wirephoto)

Agriculture Experts Predict Bumper Winter Wheat Crop

WASHINGTON, April 10—(AP)—The Agriculture Department today forecast bumper winter wheat crop of 947 million bushels this year, raising the prospects that dwindling reserves of this bread grain would be restored to safer levels.

Such a crop, coupled with the prospective spring wheat crop of 307 million bushels, would give a total wheat harvest of about 1,253,000,000 bushels. This, if realized, would be the third largest of record.

From a harvest of this size, the country could meet all its needs, continue large exports and at the same time increase reserves from for many days.

Ike Picks-Up 10 Delegates

TOPEKA, Kan., April 10—(AP)—The Eisenhower-Taft scramble for Kansas' 22 National Convention votes came to a close in a ruling battle of words today with the Republican State Convention giving all ten delegates at large to the General.

District conventions previously had elected the other 12 delegates giving ten to Eisenhower and two to Taft.

In electing all ten of the delegates at large the Eisenhower forces in his home state succeeded in getting the state convention to reject the sixth district recommendation of a Taft man for his delegate at large.

The General's backers claimed their delegate candidate in the sixth was defeated as the result of the illegal seating of a rump delegation favorable to the Taft candidate.

The state convention, firmly controlled by Eisenhower forces, adopted a credentials committee report holding the recommendation to have been illegally given and called for new nominations for the spot after a 90-minute battle of motions and substitute motions.

The rival candidates were nominated and the Eisenhower supporter was elected by a 4 to 1 margin of the 1,013 state convention delegates on a standing vote.

It was the only contest. All other delegates at large were elected by acclamation.

Oil Union Leader Threatens Nationwide Strike Over Pay

ST. LOUIS, April 10—(AP)—A nationwide oil strike was threatened today by a spokesman for oil unionists seeking pay increases.

He was O. A. Knight of Denver, who said he spoke for 20 oil workers' unions claiming a membership of 125,000. Knight is president of CIO Oil Workers' International Union.

In a heated blast at the oil industry, Knight said the patience of these 125,000 workers in strategically located plants is wearing thin and that they would strike if pending issues are not settled.

Knight came here for a scheduled hearing by a panel of the Wage Stabilization Board which was seeking to solve a dispute involving unions claiming 250,000 members throughout the nation.

The unions have demanded a wage boost of 25 cents an hour plus other benefits.

Strike Averted March 6
An oil strike was averted for the second time March 6 when President Truman asked the WSB to intervene with a series of hearings.

Knight issued his angry statement when industry representatives failed to show up for the hearing. Unable to function without the industry members, the hearing was adjourned and the dispute referred to the WSB in Washington.

AP News Goes-Through Despite Pierre Flood

PIERRE, S. D., April 10—(AP)—With flood waters lapping at the door of the Pierre, S. D., Capital-Journal building, staffers of the Pierre bureau of the Associated Press lugged teletypes and other office equipment to higher ground—and kept the news flowing.

Harold S. Milner set up an emergency bureau last night in the Pierre telephone building—after getting his feet wet lugging teletypes from the AP Bureau in the Capital-Journal. The Capital-Journal itself had to suspend publication.

Today Milner estimated the main floor of the newspaper plant was under from 3 to 4 feet of water.

Rebels Lose Upper Hand In Bolivia

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, April 10—(AP)—Round-about advice indicated tonight government forces were gaining the upper hand over rebels who tried to overthrow Bolivia's Army-officer government.

The Bolivian embassy in Buenos Aires said it had received a report from official Chilean sources that 200 persons had been killed in a battle still raging.

Communications with Bolivia were cut off, making it impossible to learn directly what was going on in that land-locked country in the Andes.

From Arica, Chile, a Pacific port city 200 miles from LaPaz, came a report that the fighting still was going on in that two-mile high capital city, but that loyal government forces under Chief of Staff Gen. Humberto Torres Ortiz were beating down the rebels. That report was sent from the Bolivian consul at Arica to the Bolivian embassy here in Buenos Aires.

Liseners in Lima, Peru, heard a radio broadcast from Bolivia's second capital at Sucre reporting the rebels had been virtually defeated. The broadcast said the rebel leader, Brig. Gen. Antonio Salasme—interior minister in the military junta government which has ruled since it seized power 11 months ago—had offered to surrender, but took refuge in the Vatican embassy; at La Paz when Torres Ortiz demanded that the surrender be unconditional.

Direct advice from La Paz last night said at least 18 persons were killed and 60 injured in the fighting which started at dawn.

The communications blackout developed in the night.

Bakery Prices To Rise Under New OPS Ruling

WASHINGTON, April 10—(AP)—The government said tonight that housewives generally may have to pay more for bread, cakes and pies under a new regulation governing bakery ceiling prices.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) said the amount of price changes would vary across the country, depending on how much individual members of the five-billion-dollar-a-year bakery industry have raised prices in the last couple of years.

One official estimated the increases would run from a penny for a loaf of bread to a dozen rolls to perhaps as much as five cents on more expensive cakes.

OPS said in a statement "the net effect of this regulation will be a slight increase in the present level of bread prices and a greater increase in present sweet goods prices."

New Milk Plant To Be Erected In Chillicothe This Summer

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., April 10—(AP)—A new milk plant will be erected here by the Missouri Farmers' Association Producers Creamery Company.

The cooperative's board of directors said the plant will operate in conjunction with the present plant which produces about 2,500,000 pounds of butter a year, John Cook, local manager, said the cost of the unit will be "well over $200,000."

Construction is expected to begin next summer.

Truman May List Favorite

President Hints He May Name Man He Considers Best Prior To Convention

WASHINGTON, April 10—(AP)—President Truman threw out a hint today that before the Democratic National Convention meets he may name the man he thinks it ought to nominate for President.

The President said at a news conference that he has a right to a preference, the same as any other citizen. He declared cryptically, however, that he hopes it won't be necessary for him to express a preference.

Previously Truman had said the party's July convention could pick any candidate it wanted without any intervention by him.

There have been reports the President favors Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, but Truman said today he wasn't expressing any preference right now.

The President said he himself would not accept a draft under any circumstances.

He'll Assist Committee
While doing whatever campaigning the Democratic National Committee asks him to do for whatever candidate is chosen, he said. He added that includes Senator Ke-fauver of Tennessee, to whose Presidential bid Truman is reputedly not very cordial.

The President refused to say whether Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has offered his resignation as Commander of Western forces in Europe.

Truman's silence—he said he has nothing to say on the subject now—lent strength to reports that Eisenhower's resignation is already on the President's desk, and that the General may head home in the near future to campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination.

One prominent backer of Eisenhower told newsmen today he has "every reason to believe" the resignation has been received at either the White House or Pentagon.

Truman said that the announcement of Eisenhower's retirement—when and if it comes—will be made by the White House whenever the General wants it made.

The President declared to reply to last night's radio-television speech by Clarence B. Randall, president of Inland Steel Co., who charged that the President's seizure of the steel industry "discharges a political debt to the CIO."

He'll Stay-Out Of Talks
He said he wants the union-management dispute in the industry settled through collective bargaining—that he thinks it can be settled in the near future and that he has no intention of intervening in the discussions.

While he urged the Wage Stabilization Board's recommendations for higher wages and a union shop to be put into effect while the steel mills are under government operation? Truman said he'll cross that bridge when he comes to it.

Politics and the steel crisis pushed the world situation all but out of the picture at today's news conference.

One foreign reporter did ask if Truman thought the governments of the world could achieve world peace by 1953. Truman replied that he doesn't consider himself a good prophet but that he hopes the answer to the question is yes.

Grain Prices Falter: Wheat Leads The Way

CHICAGO, April 10—(AP)—Wheat and other grains tumbled lower on the Board of Trade today as grain men awaited the first government grain crop report of the new year. They expected a bumper wheat crop forecast, and that is what they got.

Also holding back demand was the fact that on tomorrow, Good Friday, the board will be closed, although it will re-open for the usual half-day session on Saturday.

Day-to-day traders didn't want to hold much grain in view of the confused international and domestic situations.

Wheat closed $1\frac{1}{4}$ lower, corn $\frac{1}{2}$ lower, oats $\frac{3}{4}$ lower, soybeans $\frac{1}{4}$ lower to $\frac{3}{4}$ higher, soybeans 1 cent lower to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher and lard 7 to 20 cents a hundred pounds higher.

After the close the Agriculture Department issued a crop forecast which confirmed the relief in the trade that prospects for the winter wheat crop were excellent. As expected, the department raised its sights from the 918 million bushels forecast last December. It placed prospects at 946,345,000 bushels.

This would compare with a winter wheat crop of only 645,469,000 bushels last year and a 10-year average of 799,977,000 bushels.

Traders were not certain the forecast would cause any great selling in wheat, some contending that current prices already discounted a bumper crop.

Newark Airport To Reopen For Air Force Limited Use

NEW YORK, April 10—(AP)—The port of New York authority today approved reopening of Newark Airport for limited use by the U. S. Air Force.

A spokesman said operations are expected to begin next Monday morning.

Newark Airport was closed after a tragic air accident at nearby Elizabeth, N. J., on Feb. 11.

He's Appointed

Charles M. White, above, president of Republic Steel Corp., has been asked by Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer to "accept appointment as operating manager for the U. S. for the (steel) plants so seized." President Truman had ordered Sawyer to take over the steel industry after negotiations between steel workers and management broke down and a strike was about to go into effect.

Efforts Fail To Wind-Up Phone Strike

DETROIT, April 10—(AP)—A plan for settlement of the four-day-old telephone workers strike still eluded negotiators today in the midst of reported mounting idleness.

Estimates of the striking CIO's Communications Workers of America placed the total idle in the nation's telephone industry at approximately 260,000.

Violence in one city cropped up today as effects of the strike spread. A picket line battle in Pittsburgh sent one man to a hospital and four others to jail.

Teams of company and union negotiators met separately here in the task of trying to find a basis for agreement in the wage dispute.

E. Marvin Sconyers, ace Federal Conciliator flown here from Washington, maneuvered between the two groups.

Both sides were keeping mum. For a period of almost 24 hours there had been no comment from either indicating what course the talks were taking.

Any settlement here with Michigan Bell was expected to point the way toward agreements nationally. The CWA demanded wage boosts from 19 to 23 cents an hour. Its members' average about $1.53 hourly. The company offered a $4 to $7 weekly raise, estimated at about 12 1/2 cents hourly.

Also at issue were intercity pay differentials and job classifications.

Strike heads at Washington said picket lines now are keeping nearly 200,000 other employees off the job.

Actually, about 77,000 persons are on strike. These include 61,000 of the Bell system in Michigan, Ohio, New Jersey and northern California and 16,000 Western Electric workers.

Russia Demands Ban On German Army Ties

PARIS, April 10—(AP)—Russia insisted today that any German peace treaty must give a unified Germany her own independent army, navy and air force.

By reaffirming this basic point of difference, the Russians appeared to have blasted any chance of an East-West agreement over the future of the divided former enemy.

The Soviet position—first published March 10 in a dramatic reversal of old Communist arguments against any German rearmament—was reiterated in identical notes sent to the United States, Britain and France.

Russia also suggested the big four, not the United Nations, should decide whether all-German elections are feasible and stood by her guns on other points of her March 10 note calling for a unified Germany and for big four talks on a German peace treaty.

The new Soviet note, received in the Western capitals today, replied to Western answers of March 25 that were cool but left the way open for a further exchange.

Enemy Again Serves Notice He Opposes An Airport Ban

MUNSAN, Friday, April 11—(AP)—Communist negotiators served notice anew yesterday that they firmly oppose any armistice ban on rebuilding airfields in North Korea.

But an Allied negotiator said they hinted again a willingness to withdraw their nomination of Russia as a neutral truce observer if the U. N. command gives in on airfields.

The two issues are up for discussion again today in talks opening at 8 p. m., CST, Thursday at Panmunjom.

Talks on prisoner exchange, the third major roadblock in the path of a Korean armistice, are in recess while the two sides separately work on possible solutions.

The Allies have told the Reds they firmly oppose any trade on the airfields and Russian issues.

A Chinese Communist negotiator declared in Thursday's six-minute meeting that the Reds "absolutely would not accept the Allied de-

Judge Again Upholds Government

US Lawyers Dodge Quick Court Test Of Steel Seizure

WASHINGTON, April 10—(AP)—Lawyers for the nation's embattled steel industry angrily accused the government of "stalling" today as federal attorneys staved off a quick court test of President Truman's power to seize the steel mills.

In U. S. District Court, Judge David A. Pine upheld government objections against an immediate hearing on the dispute.

Judge Pine said that under court rules he had no choice but to give the government at least 20 days to reply to the companies' suits for a permanent injunction against seizure.

It was the second setback in less than 24 hours for the steel companies in their local skirmishing to overthrow Truman's order for federal operation of the strike-threatened industry.

The companies lost the first round of an expected long-drawn court battle yesterday when Judge Alexander Holtzoff refused to grant their plea for a temporary restraining order to bar the government from the steel plants.

No Progress Reported
Meanwhile, negotiations between industry leaders and the CIO Steelworkers union broke up tonight without any sign of progress after day-long talks. The negotiations will resume at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

"We're still on dead center," a union official said, indicating that nothing had changed since the pre-seizure negotiations collapsed in New York on Tuesday.

President Benjamin Fairless of U. S. Steel and CIO President Philip Murray—Both present at the talk led by Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman—Declined to say how the peace parleys were going.

Fairless said he was returning to Pittsburgh tonight, but Vice President John Stephens of U. S. Steel indicated that industry representatives have not given up hope for a settlement.

"We're coming back," Stephens told newsmen.

With the industry's fires roaring back to life again, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer instructed the National Production Authority late in the day to lift its ban on steel deliveries.

The NPA had frozen deliveries in advance of last Tuesday's strike threat.

In other swift-breaking developments:

1. Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, named by President Truman as boss of the government-seized mills, sought to allay industry fears that he would give the steel workers an immediate pay boost and perhaps approve a union shop contract.

Pay Remains The Same
"For the time being," Sawyer told a news conference, "existing (pay rates and working) conditions will continue, as far as I am concerned."

That implied that for the time being at least the workers will get the same wages as before the government took over the mills, pending the outcome of new labor-management negotiations.

2. President Truman brushed off an industry leader's charge that he seized the mills in "a corrupt political deal" with the CIO. Truman declined to comment on the charge at his news conference.

3. However, CIO President Philip Murray lashed back at the "deal" assertion by Clarence B. Randall, President of Inland Steel Co., denouncing it as "a malicious and deliberate lie . . . on insult to President Truman and me."

He called Randall "a prevaricator of the lowest type."

4. That implied that for the time being at least the workers will get the same wages as before the government took over the mills, pending the outcome of new labor-management negotiations.

5. Officials at the Naval Air station here and at the Elgin Air Force provisory grounds 40 miles east of here said they didn't know what caused the car-splitting explosion—the second in the past three years. Elgin authorities, where new weapons are tested, said they didn't know anything about the first one, either.

Iraq Oil Now Flows To The Mediterranean

CAIRO, Egypt, April 10—(AP)—The Arab News Agency reported a French tanker left Banias, Syria, today with the first crude oil carried to the Mediterranean coast through a new 600-mile pipeline from Iraq.

The pipeline, second largest in the Middle East, saves European-bound tankers from having to make a round trip through the Suez Canal and around the Arabian Peninsula to pick up the oil. It is operated by the Iraq Petroleum company, owned by British, Dutch, French and American interests.

Unique Easter Bonnets Winners At Daughters of Isabella Party

All ready for Easter are Mrs. Fred Scott, right, and Mrs. Earl Paxton, left, first and second winners respectively in the Easter bonnet contest held recently at a party given by the Daughters of Isabella.

Mrs. Scott's hat is a sandwich basket turned upside down with the handle under her chin. Cerise ribbon entwined around the brim of the basket hat tied in a bow at the side. On the bottom of the hat was a grass nest filled with brightly colored candy eggs. Two small stuffed ducks were dressed for the occasion, one wearing a paper dolly hat decorated with ribbon and the other wearing a lace dolly cape. Tiny chickens and bunnies completed the colorful Easter hat.

Mrs. Paxton's hat, too, was a gay creation. A white lamp shade with pastel jelly beans down the sides of it. Pastel pastry cups were made into nesties and in the center of each a jelly bean. These were used around the top of the hat and the cups were also used over the top. Around the brim of the hat were flowers in many colors.

Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Paxton were the envy of their friends with their attractive bonnets for Easter, but they probably will not wear them to church next Sunday.

The picture was taken by Mrs. Fred Rialti.

Gambling Tax Fails: Knocks Out Profession

WASHINGTON (AP)—A revenue official says the federal tax on gambling is a failure as a money producer so far, losing $2,071,000 in four months—but is knocking out gambling as a profession.

The law, an experiment in taxing a business that is illegal in most states, went into effect in November. A revenue report through February, issued yesterday, said:

"A total of 17,636 professional gamblers registered, paying $523,923 in occupational tax stamps.

They paid a total of $1,547,100 in the 10 per cent "sales tax" on gambling. Included were 10 per cent payments of $906,168 for February, indicating a total take of $2,061,680 for January compared with $7,591,820 for December.

Easter Bunnies Take Over Home Of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Carter

On the buffet of the Carter home are more rabbits, one with a hat made from a pink cellophane nut cup and trimmed with tiny flowers and ribbon. There are baskets of Easter eggs, too, some modern china eggs on which are painted flowers and symbols of Easter, sometimes with lettering. Some of these eggs Mrs. Carter found in her Easter nests when she was little girl and others she has bought through the years, whenever she saw them to add to her collection. On either end of the buffet Mrs. Carter has a flower arrangement. One with pussywillows, the other yellow jonquils making attractive backgrounds for the nests of eggs.

The Easter Bunnies have taken over the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Carter, 700 South Beacon, as they do every season. Mrs. Carter likes to make clever decorations and Mr. Carter, as most husbands do, comes in with some ideas and gets in on part of the work. The dining table is centered with a little cart fashioned from an Easter basket and the four wheels made from ribbon spools. That was where Mr. Carter came in—he made the cart. Hopping along pulling the gay cart filled with eggs is Mrs. Bunny and there is no finer lady in the Easter parade for she wears a white lace hat made from a paper dolly and trimmed with ribbon and flowers. She carries a white lace parasol, also a paper dolly, and made on a frame of wheat straws. She has a nosegay of bright flowers as does her young daughter who has an Easter dolly hat, too. Mrs. Bunny looks like a real gentleman in his construction paper top and so does Junior Bunny, Sonny Bunny the baby of the family, sits proudly on the cart holding tight to the ribbons reins. At each place are small plastic bunnies with half an egg shell filled with candy. Yes, it is the Easter parade—no wonder children who drop into the home stand with eyes big with wonder—it looks like something out of storybook land.

The other three awards are on plastic Liberty Bells. Inscribed on the gold bell is "Award Functioning Manpower 1952"; on the silver bell is inscribed "Award Quality Program 1952" and on the blue bell, "Award Increased Membership 1952."

These awards are for the fiscal year from Feb. 26, 1951 to Feb. 23, 1952.

Only two such awards have been made in Missouri to date, that to a Cub Pack in Jefferson City, and to Sedalia's Troop 69. Troops and Cub Packs must qualify for these awards, and any troop which meets the qualifications could be eligible.

Troop 69 percentage for the year was 97.3 for efficiency. Paul Anthes is the scoutmaster of the troop and Bill Bergmann, assistant scoutmaster. Arthur Beathke is explorer adviser; Ralph Kriesel, treasurer; Lawrence Kriesel, secretary; and Melvin Sylvester, advancement chairman.

The troop a year ago had but six members and through the year it was increased 100-per cent, six more boys being placed in the troop.

Members of Apaches Patrol are Jerry Bethke, Bobby Spragins, Delbert Kaiser, Charles Knaelal, Arthur Bethke and Larry Koeller. Of the Eagles are Ronald Mueller, Tony Larson, Lowell Bergmann, Grant Dailey, Billy Kriesel, and Bobby Heuerman.

Under the functioning manpower three programs had to be studied and followed: "Two Deep Leadership," "Top Leaders Trained and Trained Junior Leaders"; quality program consisted of planned yearly program, advancement and recognition, camping and outdoor activities, service and Civil Defense, and finance, increased membership had to show a net increase of 100 per cent.

Optimist Club Oratory Meet On April 15th

Members of the Sedalia Junior Optimist Oratorical Club will participate in an oratorical contest at the regular noon meeting of the Sedalia Optimist Club on April 15.

The winner of this group will be sent to Kansas City, Kan., in May to represent the Sedalia Club in the district contest which will be held in connection with the annual convention of the 10th district Optimist International.

This is one of the various projects which are carried on for the youth of the community by the Optimist Club throughout the year.

Optimism is dedicated to the encouragement and development of youth and each of its various activities is aimed in that direction.

Recently, the local club completed its annual boys' basketball league in which about 60 boys were active during the basketball season. Soon it will be time for camping again, and the club maintains a cabin and campsite for this purpose.

Oratorical work is new to the Sedalia club and has been capably supervised this year by Harold Barlick, who has worked diligently to prepare the boys for the first contest on April 15. The club hopes this event will be so successful that it will become an annual affair in Sedalia.

In years past, the Optimist Club has been able to operate its youth program largely because of the generosity of many people of Sedalia who have contributed to this worthwhile cause through the purchase of "Boy Bonds." This year, however, the "Boy Bonds" have been abandoned in favor of a new fund-raising program—the Optimist Circus.

This circus is being presented May 3 by Hagen Brothers of Oklahoma City, under the sponsorship of the Optimist Club, and all proceeds which the club realizes from this project will be used to further the youth program. This promises to be a real circus with animals, acrobats, clowns and all the usual circus regalia.

The Ottaville Boots and Saddie Club will participate in the bus show with colorful drills on horseback. Tickets are now on sale at Reed and Son Jewelers, Hogan Furniture Co., Cecil's Bicycle Shop and Boies Drug Store.

Ground Broken For Gridiron

Ground was broken last Monday for Sedalia's new football gridiron and recreational area in the west section of Liberty Park. Heavy equipment of the Menefee Construction Co., tore into the project on Monday and worked through Thursday grading and leveling the area between Liberty Park boulevard and the Liberty Park drive, just north of Third street.

Old Circus Ground Area—The area comprises the old circus grounds and the tourist camping grounds on the south end. Equipment being used are two DW-10's with rubber tires and scrapers, which can move several tons of earth at one drag; a push tractor used to push these two machines; a motor patrol grader; a large heavy roller to pack down the dirt, and a machine which was used to cut out the sod at the start of the project.

Complete Grading Soon—E. W. Menefee of the construction company said the men worked from Monday through Thursday and had to stop because of rain which made the area too muddy for the heavy equipment. He indicated that with good weather the whole area should be graded and leveled off with three to four more days of work.

Stadium Contract About Ready—E. M. Stafford, Jr., stated plans for the stadium have been drawn and approved by the committee. Contracts for the erection of the stadium are being prepared and will be let in the near future.

If everything progresses from now on it is anticipated the gridiron will be ready for the 1952 football season. Much depends on weather conditions as to how the work will proceed.

Contract Let For New City Hall At Tipton

Tipton is to have a new City Hall and work is expected to start on the new building in about ten days. It is being built at a cost of $19,998.50 by the Ewald Fischer's Sales and Manufacturing Company of Tipton which concern was the low bidder among six construction companies.

There were two bids from Sedalia, one from Jefferson City, one from Uhlman, and another from Tipton.

It was in February 1948 that bonds were voted by the citizens of Tipton in the amount of $25,000 for the new City Hall. Mayor J. J. Brant said due to the fact the construction was lower than the bonds voted, the difference in money would be used to purchase new office furniture and other necessary equipment for the city offices.

The building is to be a brick structure, 36 x 60 feet. It will have an assembly room, two office rooms, the fire department, public rest rooms, a jail and small kitchen. The building is to be on city property on the east side of what is known as the Mothers Church Park.

With the announcement the bid had been let for the City Hall, it was also announced two bond issues on the original water system, voted in 1933, were paid off in March, according to J. A. Conn, city clerk. The original sewer bonds were also paid off last year making a total payment by the City of Tipton on water and sewer bonds of $63,000.

Its Gayest, Most Festive Night Here In Years—

'Sedalia On Parade' Attracts Hundreds

Sedalia On Parade was a jamming, hilarious success. Hundreds of persons enjoyed the gay event Friday night which was sponsored by the Missouri Pacific Women's Club with the whole-hearted backing of local merchants.

Traffic jams were continuous from before the event until after the crowd left. Highway traffic on Broadway was slowed to a snail's pace for more than two hours, and Ohio and Main streets were packed with a continuous string of cars, lined bumper-to-bumper, as the crowds surged into the business area.

No parking was allowed on Ohio and those who walked downtown, or packed their cars on the side streets, and strolled to the shopping district, lined Ohio and Main all during the evening. Side streets also garnered attention.

Sedalia's stores never had more attractive window displays than for this special "On Parade" festival. Many of the windows and stores had living models displaying the clothing and furnishings offered by the merchants.

None of the stores were open, but window shoppers had an opportunity of seeing more merchandise on display than in any other shopping tour they have ever taken.

Most of the windows were of a serious nature, designed to give the lookers-in a view of the articles being displayed. Others were more humorous, depicting life in manners than tickle the funny bones.

Some stores had fashion shows and some demonstrations. Whatever the living models were doing, they attracted the crowds. Those on foot-stopped and packed around while those in cars slowed down to near stand stills—and further slowed the already slow-moving traffic.

It was one of the most festive nights in years for Sedalians and others from miles around. It was made more so by the special entertainment provided by the musicians, who ramped through the area on trucks.

Members of the Missouri Pacific Women's Club who assisted in making Sedalia On Parade a suc-

Good Friday Service Noon To 3 O'Clock

Different Pastors Will Speak During The Eight Sessions

Good Friday will be observed in Sedalia with a three hour union service to be held at the Fifth Street Methodist Church with pastors of a number of the churches in the city taking part.

Divided into eight sections so all may attend at least part of the service, the worship theme will center on the last words of Christ on the Cross. The opening period will begin at 12 noon.

Marking the anniversary of the crucifixion of the Lord, Good Friday is a day when the Christian world looks to God and gives thanks for the gift of His Son.

Recalled is not only Jesus' death on the cross for all mankind, but the miraculous resurrection observed two days later — on Easter Sunday — when He arose from the tomb to "go and prepare a place for you."

Speakers, themes and organists, as well as soloists, for the various periods of the Good Friday service are as follows:

Holy Week Service Thursday at Noon Concludes Series

Dr. Ralph L. Woodward, president of Central College, Fayette, concluded the series of noon-day Holy Week services of the Sedalia Ministerial Alliance Thursday noon at the Fifth Street Methodist Church.

Speaking on "They Changed Their Glory," he told the children of Israel changed their glory from that of God when they began worship of the golden idol. Modern civilization, he said, often changes its glory from that of God to the glory of man. The change comes, he pointed out, when man alters his relationship with God.

Sometimes, Dr. Woodward added, the change comes so gradual man hardly realizes he is turning away from God. Churches, however, help to keep man in line, renewing his faith and holding him to the glory of God.

Enterprise II Sails. Happy Carlsen Aboard

MOBILE, Ala., April 10.—(P)—The Flying Enterprise II sailed tonight, returning a happy captain Kurt Carlsen to the sea.

The trip to Houston, Tex., will be the plucky skipper's first voyage since his crippled ship sank beneath him in a North Atlantic storm three months ago. At Houston the ship will pick up a cargo of grain for France.

Before sailing, Carlsen told newsmen it would be "a great relief" to escape the deluge of movie, book, and lecture offers that have rained upon him since his return to this country.

The modest skipper firmly declined all such offers.

"Who am I?" he asked. "Three months ago I was just another jerk. Now I'm still a jerk. Who wants to listen to me?"

Command of the former Noon-day was turned over the Carlsen this morning by Captain Herbert Samuels. The Isbrandtsen Line brought the 10,660 ton freighter from Waterman Steamship Corp., here and renamed her.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 10.—(P)—Governor Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois will "clarify" his political plans next week, an aide said today.

Traditional Flowers and Many Others Ready for Easter Here

Easter is a season of beauty—it is symbolic of new life—and closely woven into the story of the resurrection are flowers, for it was in a garden that Jesus was laid to rest and arose from the dead.

Flowers have become so closely associated with Easter that they seem a part of the season.

Flower shops in Sedalia are filled with Easter flowers to be used in the churches, to be sent to hospitals, shutins, as gifts to mother or other loved ones, gifts to friends—and the choice of varieties is wide.

The traditional flower of Easter is the white lily, which according to legend, was "found" blooming joyously around Christ's tomb on Easter morning, the messenger of joyous tiding to the Virgin Mary.

It may be interesting to know that it requires a good deal of experience and forethought to start lilies weeks and even months in advance to have them in flower for the right stage to meet a demand like Easter. The public has taken its needs of the Easter lily on a particular date, as a mere matter of course. When you consider that Easter is not a definite date, but varies as much as 28 days, it requires a good deal of knowledge and experience on the part of a grower to have them in flower for the right date.

Temperatures and a continuous even growth is exceedingly important and requires constant attention every minute of the day and night. The temperature may drop 30 or more degrees in a few hours but the temperature around the lilies cannot vary as much as two degrees without danger of injury, which means that much attention must be given.

And so the florists grow for churches, homes and hospitals the beautiful lilies at Easter.

Among other potted plants for the Easter season are hydrangeas, in pastel shades, calla lilies, yucca, white and pink, glorioxia, snow white, or flowers like purple or red velvet, tulips, double and single in yellow, red, pink and white, hyacinths, floribunda roses, azaleas, cineraria floribus, and many others.

Cut flowers, too, are sent at this season in boxes, bouquets or Easter arrangements. Easter eggs, chickens, bunnies and Floradora dolls with Easter bonnets are often added to give a special touch of the season.

Just as pretty and less expensive than the orchids are gardenias, roses, a favorite of the Sweetheart rose, camellias, irises, carnations, stephanotis and always violets.

And so, whether it be a large potted plant of lilies or a tiny corsage of violets, there must be flowers for Easter.

Interpreting The News

Would Soviet Russia be willing to give up her hold on eastern Germany in return for a unified Germany which would be neutral as between Russia and the Western powers?

Her insistence that she is ready for all-German elections, provided they are supervised by the four powers instead of the U.N., seems to indicate she would. This despite the fact the Communists lost out in such elections after the war.

Agreement whereby her veto power in four-power negotiations would permit her to rig the results. They learned about that from the "free elections" in other Eastern European countries after Yalta.

Russia's latest note in the International Exchange over Germany contains no hint, as some Allied authorities had expected, of any dramatic concession. Instead of offering to make a trade on the East German territory occupied by Poland after the war, she reiterated her insistence on the permanence of present boundaries. While the Kremlin feels the pressure, there is no suggestion of panic.

Russia Desires Reich Election In Near Future

MOSCOW, Friday, April 11.—(P)—The Soviet government told the U. S., Britain and France all-German elections should be held in the nearest future under supervision of a four-power commission, the text of a Russian note published here said today.

The Soviet government proposed in the most urgent fashion that the big four powers meet to re-establish German unity and work out a peace treaty, with Germany and the formation of an all-German government.

The Soviet note was in reply to notes received from the U. S., Britain, and France March 25 which had said here could be no peace treaty with Germany except with a freely-elected all-German government.

Then the session could wind up in a hurry.

No business was transacted today.

Government Orders Buying of Eggs, Pork

WASHINGTON (P)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan bowed to a congressional recommendation today and ordered government buying of pork and eggs in an effort to bolster their prices.

He announced that the Agricultural Department will offer to buy a "substantial" amount of smoked pork and up to 500,000 cases of eggs for use next fall by the government — sponsored non-profit school lunch program.

Italy Police Recover Stolen Defense Plan

UDINE, Italy, April 10.—(P)—A whole strategic plan for Atlantic Pact defense of Italy's frontier against invasion from the east was stolen a month ago during army maneuvers, Italian police disclosed tonight. They said the material has just been recovered.

Military officials said the detailed paper and field maps were contained in a leather case and on recovery it appeared to be intact. However, the documents could have been copied while the packet was missing.

The story of the missing plan was kept a "closely guarded secret" since mid-March.

It came to light when the Carabinieri (police) announced the arrest of 29-year-old Doro Bertoni of a tiny village near here within a few miles of the Yugoslav frontier. They said the plans were found buried near his home.

Rising Water Fills Bottoms At St. Joseph

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 10.—(P)—U. S. River Engineers here are out in force tonight evacuating cattle from the lowland north of St. Joseph as the Missouri River hit a foot over flood stage here.

Engineers report the river stage is at 182 feet and rising at the rate of one-tenth of a foot per hour. Evacuation of livestock by the River Engineers has started in the lowlands near White Clouds, Kan.

Buchanan County today assigned its road program employees and equipment to the French Bottoms area and Lake Contrary where flooding is expected.

The French Bottoms is a section of land just opposite the business district. The Municipal Airport, Rosecrans Field, is also located in this area on the western tip.

A section in the southern part of French bottom is already under water and one levee on the north side is described by farmers in the area to be pretty soggy.

The city transferred 60 of its employees to the airport to strengthen the levees there. Airport manager Eric Southward said tonight all workshop tools, machinery, bull dozers, and everything movable is being evacuated from the airport to higher ground. Southward says he'll move from his residence at the airport tomorrow. Planes will also be evacuated.

At Lake Contrary, south of St. Joseph, residents of the area have been asked by Ben Gordon, president of the Lake Contrary Development Association, to move their personal belongings out in a hurry.

A narrow stretch of land, about 50 or 60 feet wide separates the Lake from the Missouri River. There could be serious flood in that area should the river break through that narrow neck of land, Gordon said.

Senators Vote To Keep Trying McCarthy Case

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(P)—The Senate voted 60 to 0 today to let a subcommittee go on investigating ouster charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

The charges were preferred by Sen. Benton (D-Conn.), who said they justify McCarthy's expulsion from the Senate.

In a formal counter-attack, McCarthy today urged an inquiry into Benton's conduct by the same rules subcommittee, although he said "I have absolutely no confidence" in the Democratic members of the subcommittee.

That brought a series of angry retorts from members of the subcommittee and others preceding the unanimous vote which rejected a move to take the inquiry away from the subcommittee, which is now apparently nearing the completion of its work.

Any significance that vote might have had had been removed in advance when McCarthy announced that he would vote against the move to discharge the subcommittee from further consideration of Benton's resolution.

The resolution calls only for an investigation of McCarthy, but in testifying for it last August Benton said McCarthy should be ousted from the Senate. He accused the Wisconsin Republican of perjury, fraud and deceit in pressing his Communism — in — government charges.

In his counter move, McCarthy did not specifically urged that Benton be unseated. He accused the Connecticut Democrat of being friendly toward Communists and fellow travelers and of shielding some of them who McCarthy said had been in government service.

House Group Favors More Aid To Spain. Less To Three Others

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(P)—A House investigating group today recommended more financial aid to Spain but proposed tougher conditions on further assistance to Great Britain, France and West Germany.

The three-member Foreign Affairs Subcommittee said in a special report that European nations should be required to show "greater evidence of self-help . . . and mutual cooperation" to qualify for more American dollars.

But Spain, the report said, should be given priority for assistance as a practical means of utilizing that country's strategic position and its "large and efficient army" of 700,000 officers and men.

Subcommittee members said they would propose giving Generalissimo Franco substantially more than the 100 million dollars voted last year for Spain. None of these funds have been spent yet, and no appropriation for Spain is included in the $7,900,000,000 foreign aid program now under Congressional consideration.

Canada Finds Error In Our POW Policy

OTTAWA, April 10.—(P)—Canada has drawn to the attention of the United States that its prisoner-of-war policy in the Korean truce talks is not in accord with a Geneva Convention.

The convention, approved after the last war but never formally ratified, provides that prisoners-of-war are to be returned to their homelands. It makes no provision such as the U. S. is suggesting in Korea—that Red prisoners who don't want to go home for political or other reasons don't have to go home.

"We aren't pressuring Washington," the official said. "We have drawn the contradiction to their attention. We have said we think they should change their policy."

The U. S. is conducting the armistice negotiations in Korea on behalf of the U.N. It keeps other

Air Force Feels Ex-Nazis Train Red Jet Pilots

SEOUL, Friday, April 11.—(P)—U. S. Air Force officers say Communist air power is slowly outdistancing the Allies in the Korean War and they suspect former German Nazi jet pilots are helping to train the Reds.

These officers from the Fifth Air Force, who spoke only with the assurance of anonymity, said the hull on the battle front also was defeating "Operation Strangle," the air strikes at Red supply lines.

They declared one reason is the Fifth Air Force is not being maintained at full authorized strength. The propeller-driven F-51 Mustang of World War II, out of production now, still is a mainstay in Korea. But getting parts is a headache. Mustang squadrons have cannibalized worn
